

Salva NICAS

Dr Salva Nicas is a Junior Dermatology consultant in Moshi, Tanzania. Her focus on Paediatric Dermatology and Leprosy and her involvement in international conferences showcase her dedication to advancing knowledge in these fields.

She actively contributes to the field of dermatology by publishing and presenting interesting cases and research at international conferences. Her commitment is evident in her current efforts to establish a paediatric curriculum at the Regional Dermatology Training Centre, which will likely positively impact the training and education of future dermatologists in the region.

Her membership in professional organisations such as the Gloderm Training Committee, the Society of Paediatric Dermatology, and the International Society of Dermatology reflects her engagement with the global dermatological community.