

Trilokraj TEJASVI

Dr. Trilokraj Tejasvi, MBBS, MD, is a Professor and Director of the Cutaneous Lymphoma Program and Teledermatology Services at Michigan Medicine, and Chief of Dermatology at the Ann Arbor VA Medical Center.

He completed his medical training in India and post-doctoral work at the University of Michigan.

With over 90 peer-reviewed publications, Dr. Tejasvi has contributed significantly to teledermatology, serving as Chair of the AAD Teledermatology Committee (2019-2023) and developing key guidelines.

He is President of the International Society for Digital Health in Dermatology and organized the First World Congress of Digital Health in Dermatology in 2025.